

Students move into Hudnall Hall

By JOHN BERRY

Hudnall Hall, TJC's newest and largest dorm, opened Sunday.

Located at the corner of Baxter and Devine streets, the new men's dorm will house 98 students. Among these are football players formerly living in East Hall and about 14 students who have had to stay at the Ramada Inn until the new dorm could be completed.

One of the most modern buildings on campus, Hudnall Hall was completed and approved by the Board of Trustees last week. Students began moving in Sunday.

Funds for the dorm were given by Tyler geologist J.S. Hudnall, head of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers. Hudnall is also responsible for contributing toward the construction of the Planetarium which bears his name. His latest contribution aided in beginning construction of the new dorm last November.

Now the largest dorm on campus, Hudnall Hall is designed in an L-shape. Unlike the formerly used courtyard style, this design with interior corridors allows students to pass from room to room without leaving the building.

Hudnall Hall was constructed with special attention given to conserving energy and housing students in the least amount of space," said Executive Vice President Richard H. Barrett.

Barrett also said the new design was planned to give maximum protection to students living in the dorm.

The new dorm is planned to be more nearly maintenance free. Constructed of steel, concrete and masonry, the initial cost of Hudnall Hall was some 1.2 million dollars, said Barrett.

Dorm residents will park in the lot adjacent to the structure, though some additional space will be needed.

With the aging East Hall left vacant, the question of its future has been raised. Many ideas are being considered though nothing definite has been decided, Dr. Edwin Fowler, vice president for student services, said.

"Perhaps it will be razed, making space for additional parking, or renovated for teacher offices. However, its future is still up in the air," he said.

Friedman announces new faculty

Twenty-five new full-time faculty and staff members have been hired, I.L. Friedman, vice-president for instruction, announced at the faculty convocation.

Nine have joined the academic faculty. Jan Cook and Martha Hogan are new mathematics instructors. English instructors are: Leo Davis Jr., Billie Loftin and Dr. Charles Johnson. Viola Benavides is director of Health Science Education Division. New music instructor is Larry Marta and Linda Turner will teach business administration.

Six are technology instructors: Bobby Terry and Lee Wigzell, petroleum technology; Deborah Welch, fashion merchandising; Michelle LaBasi, dental hygiene; John Hogan, air conditioning and refrigeration; and Martha Culverhouse, ornamental horticulture.

Ruth Adkins will be dormitory supervisor for Hudnall Hall. Coordinator of purchasing and internal control is Paul Heimer Jr. New Assistant Technician in Vaughn Library is Sylvia Thompson.

Betty Jayroe is the new secretary for the associate dean of continuing education and new secretaries in the Counseling Center are Rose Roberson and Georgia Root. Theresa Wills is secretary for Student Affairs Office.

John Posey Jr. is a data processing programmer. The new janitor is Timothy Pullins. Dental hygiene receptionist is Carolyn Baker.

Two new tax clerks are Donna Wyatt and Patricia Wyatt.

Students to vote in Senate elections

Freshman Senate positions include president, vice president, secretary, and 10 senators. The Sophomore Class will also elect 10 senators.

Twelve are candidates for Freshman Class officers. Three are vying for president: Marquette Clay, Lorenzo Ross and Ron Walsh.

Vice president candidates are: Maribeth Brophy, Ramona Froeschl, Loren Henderson, Teel Lawler, Ray McDonald and Jim Mercy.

Competing for secretary are: Carol Lee Brooks, Pam Burleson and Tracy Snodgrass.

Freshman senator candidates are: Karen Dickerson, David Gessing, Deborah Starr Kedder, Steve Kirby, Gavin McCarroll, Debbie Norris and Jay Taylor.

All recognized, on-campus organizations will elect one Senate representative. All new organizations seeking Senate representation must have representatives approved by two-thirds of Senate members at that designated meeting.

The Senate will meet at 3 p.m. in the Senate Lounge on second and fourth Tuesdays.

Students need ID cards

Every fulltime student taking 9 hours or more must have a student ID card. The card includes a current photo of the student, social security number, and signature.

Faculty also need a current ID card. It will admit them to sports events and give access to the Library.

The card is a free ticket to sports events, most concerts, plays, and numerous other campus social events as well as a safety factor to protect students, said Dr. Edwin Fowler, vice president for student services.

The cards are free, as are most other student services except tuition, Fowler said. All students should have an ID by now.

If you have not yet had one made, the machines will be set up in the Audio Visual Aid office in the basement of Vaughn Library, Fowler said.

Parked cars require permits

All vehicles parked on campus must be registered with the Student Affairs Office, located in the Student Center Building.

One serially numbered decal will be issued free to students and faculty. Additional decals will cost $2, according to the Student Handbook.

To obtain a parking permit, students must present a registration receipt and activity card.

If a student brings a different car on campus, for example, because his car is being repaired, he must also register the different car immediately upon arrival. A temporary permit, good for one week, may be obtained from the Student Affairs Office for use in such instances.

Disabled persons may obtain special permits for reserved areas at the Student Affairs Office. A disability must be verified by a physician before permits will be issued.

Each permit must be permanently affixed to the left side of the vehicle rear window. Motorcycles must have permits affixed to the gas tank or on the vehicle where it can easily be seen.

Any violation of parking regulations is cause for a ticket.

ZEBRAS WITH BROKEN STRIPES? Not quite. The new parking lot, opened Monday, is on the southeast corner of the campus at the corner of Fifth and Palmer Streets.

The new lot accommodates 254 vehicles with permits and is restricted to TJC students.

Students produce 'News' in classes

With this issue, the News begins another year of service to TJC. The News is published free and is distributed in the yellow and black boxes around campus each Thursday afternoon except during holidays.

News editor is John Berry and Assistant Editor is Holly Witherspoon, both sophomores. Most of the staff are freshmen enrolled in their first journalism course.

We hope our readers will realize that those who write and publish the News are students. Individuals with responsibility for laying out pages, writing headlines and organizing advertising space all are students preparing for a journalism career.

Their efforts are open to public scrutiny—and appreciation or criticism—much as those of athletes or bandsmen are. They, like computer programming majors and others, gain experience and learn particular job skills. They learn something of the anxiety of interviewing a news source, the difficulty of writing accurately under deadline pressure.

The News exists primarily as a laboratory for journalism students. Secondly, it is a news source for TJC students and faculty.

The News is an opportunity for budding journalists to practice and perfect their craft, their art.

To be on the staff a student must be enrolled in a journalism course.

Non-journalism students and faculty may submit ideas for stories and letters to the editor for publication but the News reserves the right to decide what is finally printed.

We lack the staff and space to cover all news items, but we attempt to cover campus news and activities as thoroughly as possible.

To meet press schedules, ads must be in eight days before publication date. All news stories should be in 10 days before publication. Persons with news or ads may contact the News in the Journalism Lab, P204, or call 592-6468.

Former Belle returns to assist director

By KAY PEEBLES

The Apache Belles' new assistant director, Athena Russell, is no stranger to Belle life. She was a Belle from 1973-1975.

Few changes have been made in the half-time format of the team since she was a member, Russell said. One she noted is

Heart Beat seeks help

Students and faculty will have a chance to earn money to fight heart disease and get some exercise at the same time.

The American Heart Association is sponsoring 1982 Heart Beat, a five-mile run, walk, or jog Saturday, Sept. 25. Heart Beat begins at 9 a.m. on the UT Tyler campus in the parking lot off Old Omen Road.

Participants must fill out a signup sheet and sign up as many sponsors as possible. They bring the sheets to the event.

Signup sheets are available at: the TJC News office, 204 Potter Hall; the American Heart Association, 3613 S. Broadway, and in Dr. Bill Fisk's office at UTT.

the uniform skirt is no longer split in front.

Although the Belles do a great deal of work, Russell believes the advantages of being a Belle far outweigh the disadvantages. Performing for such a wide spectrum of audiences, going to interesting places and meeting new people make all the work worthwhile, she says.

Coming to work with the Apache Belles has proved a challenging career move for Russell who had been teaching home economics here for the last two years. The assistant director says she "picks up the loose ends" that Belle Director Jack Smith and Choreographer Al Gilliam don't have time for.

Working in this position has little to do with Mrs. Russell's chosen field. She received an associate degree in home economics at TJC. Continuing her studies at Stephen F. Austin State University, she later acquired her bachelor's and master's degrees in the same field.

Russell says she really enjoys working with the Belles.

3 sources may help locate jobs

Students seeking jobs can turn to several sources, both on and off campus. These include the Financial Aid Office, the Counseling Center and the Texas Employment Commission.

"There is no set number of students who can receive financial aid," said Financial Aid Director R.H. Clemmons Jr. "The number will increase this year."

"Forty students held jobs through the Financial Aid Office last year," said Financial Aid Secretary Fay Richardson.

The job openings mainly consist of clerical and maintenance work, most of them for the whole year. Times are adjustable to students' schedules and students are limited to two hours work a day. They receive $3.35 an hour minimum wage.

"The first applicant available and the returning students will be the first to be considered," said Clemmons.

Other than the work program, TJC has been approved for the College Work Study program. "TJC has been authorized for approximately $45,000 for this program and may receive more," said Clemmons.

It's only for the needy students and is restricted by government regulation," said Clemmons. The students in this program will also be limited to two hours per day and minimum wage. Students cannot be in both programs.

Those interest in job applications may see Richardson.

The Counseling Center is another source. Businesses call the Counseling Center with information about available jobs.

Job descriptions and other pertinent information are recorded and entered into the computer in the Center.

A student may check the computer to see if there is a job he is interested in. The job list is renewed every week.

"If you don't find a job you are interested in the first week, try the next," said Counseling Director Frankie Muffoletto.

Another source is posters or bulletins around campus, especially in Jenkins Hall, the Teepee and the Student Center.

The Texas Employment Commission can also be very helpful to the student seeking full or part-time work, said English Instructor Leo Davis, a former TEC employee.

The TEC is located at 1520 W. Front St. in Tyler. Davis suggests that students looking for work should go down there and complete an application for the kind of work, hours and days they will be available.

"Let them know you're a student and as work comes in they will call," Davis said. "Students who do apply at the TEC should check periodically (every 30 days) to make sure that their applications have been kept up-to-date."

Davis also pointed out that the current tight economy has not helped the unemployed student find work. "There have been quite a few cuts and lay-offs at the major plants," Davis said. "All major industries have had people coming in to the TEC."

The TEC is open Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and is interested in finding work for students.

"If a person is looking for work," Davis said, "it is one of the best places to start."

Bible Chairs offer programs, services

The four Bible Chair directors have scheduled many fall activities, from free lunches to student conventions.

Baptist Student Union activities will include Koinonia Fellowship at 7 p.m. every Monday night, free lunches at noon every Wednesday, dorm Bible studies, the State BSU Convention, and a Fall Retreat, said Dr. Dale "Geno" Robinson. For more information about the BSU, students may contact Robinson at 592-0382.

The State BSU Convention will be Sept. 24-26 at the Tarrant Convention Center. The BSU will host an Oct. 8-9 Fall Retreat.

Wesley Foundation plans free Monday suppers once a month with a program, Tuesday worship services in the chapel and the traditional Christmas dinner, party and program for underprivileged children.

The suppers are Sept. 27, Oct. 11 and Nov. 15. Herb Stallknecht, pastor of Lanes Chapel United Methodist Church, will speak at the Sept. 27 dinner.

For more information about the Wesley Foundation, students may contact Director Harvey Beckendorf at 592-3866.

Tuesday fellowship meals at 6 p.m., devotionals and volleyball or movies, Thursday hot soup and bread lunches and devotionals and special Friday night activities highlight the Tri-C (Campus Christian Center) program.

Singing groups, bowling, homemade ice-cream suppers, volleyball, out-of-town trips, and movies are planned for Friday nights, said Tri-C Director Jim Strait. Linda Reeves is the new Tri-C secretary. Strait can be reached at 593-3331 or 593-9010.

The Presbyterian Student Center will have Bible Studies each Thursday evening and monthly suppers, said director John Johnson. Special events will include an all-day trip Sept. 25 to Malibu Raceway in Dallas, and an Oct. 22-24 Fall Retreat. Johnson can be reached at 592-1613.

The dates for the Presbyterian suppers are Oct. 7, Nov. 11, and Dec. 9. Free meals are prepared by the women of Fifth Street Presbyterian Church and served at 6:30 p.m.

The Spiritual Life Committee and the Bible Chairs will jointly sponsor Religious Emphasis Week in March. Entertainment will be provided by the Covenant Players of California.

Vocal groups select members in tryouts

Two campus singing groups recently selected new members in auditions.

Fourteen vocalists won places in the pop group Harmony and Understanding and eight earned membership in Chamber singers.

New Harmony members are: Linda Holbrook, Julie Reeves, Gina Rocha, Darla Thompson, Rochelle Jackson, Gabrielle Mass, Carol Ann Thomas and Leslie Williams.

Male members are: Mitch Andrews, Mark Trammel, Paul Wilson, Neal Harkrider, Leon Philpot, and David Wheeler.

Instrumentalists to accompany the vocalists are: Pam Mallory, piano; John Harsh, guitar; Mike Miller, bass guitar; Scott McMillan, drummer; Benjamin Davis, keyboards and John Kimlicko, alternate bass player.

Judging the 31 who auditioned were: Band Director Jack Smith, Voice Instructor Cheryl Rogers, and Candy Crocker Jordan and Cathy Pollard, Harmony and Understanding alumni.

Music Coordinator J.W. Johnson will direct the group.

New Chamber Singers are: Beth Ann Johnson, Julie Morrow, Lisa Herby, Scott Bryant, Steve Carter, Russell Stone, Tony Talbert and David Wheeler.

Singers returning from last year are: Jean Baublitz, Linda Holbrook, Lindy Benton, Donna Blackwell, Christy Ligon, Mitch Andrews, Paul Wilson and Mike Miller.

Accompanist will be Cindy Byerly.

The 11 contestants were judged by Chamber Singers Director Rogers. She chose the singers by how well they blended with other voices and their solo ability, she said.

Rush to continue another week

Rush will continue through Friday, Sept. 24. Students interested in joining fraternities or sororities are invited to rush parties sponsored by Greek organizations.

"Rush is basically a membership drive. It gives prospective members a chance to learn all about fraternities and sororities and to get acquainted with the members," said Student Activities Coordinator Emma Lou Prater.

Each organization has two free rush parties a week. Other activities are listed on the Student Affairs bulletin board in the Student Center.

"Rush doesn't take away from the student's study time but pledging can be a little consuming," Prater said.

Information on pledging and membership can be obtained from fraternity and sorority presidents.

Spring semester rush will be in January, Prater said.

Cafeteria director institutes changes

Cafeteria users may notice several changes made during the summer. Mike Pettyjohn is the new Saga food service director.

The cafeteria entrance has been moved to the west wall of the Teepee. A faculty dining room and office have taken the place of the former entrance.

Pettyjohn, who replaced former manager Rick Hotman, is changing the cafeteria program as well. A mini snack bar just inside the doors will be open for students in evening courses.

"I want to stress that word 'mini' concerning the snack bar," Pettyjohn said. "At present, the facilities and equipment involved allow only a small snack bar."

Pettyjohn plans to serve coffee, punch, chips, fruit, cold sandwiches and cookies at the snack bar. After students' reactions to the snack bar become clear, other foods may be served, he said.

The snack bar will have a line in which students may purchase food to be eaten in the Teepee.

Pettyjohn also encourages students to use the seconds line which is available, to cut down on regular service lines and to speed service. Students may use the seconds line only after they have passed through the main service line of the dining hall, he said.

"An expanded salad bar will also be offered," stated Pettyjohn.

Prater announces hours

The Teepee will be open from 7 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Student Activities Coordinator Emma Lou Prater said the Teepee will close after evening meals on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Pool tables and video machines will be open during Teepee hours.

The Bookstore and snack-bar are open from 7 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, Bookstore clerk Vivian Story said. Both will be closed on weekends.

The cafeteria opens for breakfast at 7 a.m. to 8 a.m. Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. to 9 a.m. Saturday and Sunday, said Food Service Director Mike Pettyjohn.

Lunch times are 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Monday through Friday and 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Dinner times are 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Programs add 4 courses

Four new classes have been added to academic and technology programs, as well as a number of changes made in each section.

"With the revisions and new classes, TJC is offering 1,429 classes," said Arts and Sciences Dean Jerry Leard.

Piano, word processing and reading and writing labs are the four new academic classes.

Piano classes, taught by Larry Marta, are limited to 12 students, with two sessions at night and one during the day. "More piano classes will be available during the spring," said Leard.

Word processing classes are taught at night by Secretarial Sciences Coordinator Joe Staples.

Reading and writing labs are being taught by most instructors in the English Department.

Petroleum technology and real estate broaden requirements by adding two new classes each.

The new petroleum classes are Petroleum Surveying and Drafting and Rotary Drilling Fluids. Petroleum Surveying and Drafting is offered in the fall and Rotary Drilling Fluids will be offered in the spring.

"The revisions in petroleum technology were made to keep up with industry demands," said Technology Dean Richard Minter.

Tribe fans rally tonight

The Apache pep rally for the Northeastern Oklahoma game will be at 7 p.m. tonight on Wise Plaza.

Leading cheers will be Apache cheerleaders: Marquette Clay, Pat Snow, Angie Dowdy, Joe Fuentes, Clay Mayfield, Jerry Rozelle, Jennifer Shields, Juanita Franklin, Paige Hadjison, Pennie Pierce, and Bill Rawson.

Cheerleaders were selected in spring tryouts open to all TJC freshmen and high school seniors.

The next Apache pep rally will be behind Wagstaff Gym at 10:50 a.m. Sept. 23 to send the team off on buses to Blinn College in Brenham.
